

Innovative Pedagogical Inquiries

Using Self-Study Research to Inform Practice

Anastasia P. Samaras, Ph.D.

Professor Emerita of Education

Keynote Address

Ionian University, Center for Teaching & Learning

October 26, 2023

AGENDA

- Celebrating our partnership in learning & teaching
- Introduction to self-study research method
- Author your research question
- Work with supportive trusted colleagues
- Enacting self-study of teaching
- Self-study learning communities
- Self-study resources

PARTNERS IN LEARNING AND TEACHING

This initiative generated from The International Academic Partnership Program (IAPP) in partnership with the Greek Ministry of Education and Religious Affairs and Fulbright Greece and the facilitators who served as delegates to the IAPP Pharos Summit, a high-level forum to amplify the strength of the U.S.-Greek higher education collaborations and partnerships.

We have the capacity:

- to learn by exploring our teaching practice.
- to develop each others' capacities as learners.

What do expert teachers do?

- Demonstrate openness to continuous learning
- Study their teaching to improve their practice
- Dialogue with colleagues for reciprocal learning and reciprocal mentorship

Self-Accountability

- At the forefront of a teacher's professional development
- Self-initiated ~ meaningful and sustainable
- Assess from the first person.
- Assess with trusted colleagues.
- Assess dynamically and continuously.

Dispositions of Pedagogical Innovators

a willingness to:

1. Explore
2. Embrace mistakes
3. Cultivate
4. Collaborate
5. Experiment
6. Learn
7. Share

How might we re-imagine our pedagogies using self-study research?

INTRODUCTION TO SELF-STUDY RESEARCH METHOD

What is self-study research ?

A qualitative research genre for systematically examining one's practitioner work/role in any chosen field and discipline of study for improvement-aimed purposes and with contributions to that educational field

*Requires critical collaborative inquiry

Self-study is beyond the self.

How do my hybrid learning techniques impact community building among my students?

Laurie Harmon, George Mason University

Self-Study Methodology

There are multiple methods of self-study

- Virtual Bricolage
- Personal History
- Collective Self-Study
- Arts-based Self-Study
- Poetic Inquiry
- Memory Work

- Inter-cultural Self-Study: Communicating across cultural boundaries as critical friends; e.g., across countries, organizations, and various groups
- ....And more!

Who conducts self-study, why, and how?

Who:

- ANY practitioner, practice, discipline, university and country

Why:

- Personal, professional, program renewal
- Personal professional accountability and agency
- Promoting social justice in education
- Reforming in the first person with colleagues
- Advancing knowledge of your field and education

How:

- Self-study scholars can use multiple research methods.
- Methodologically inventive

The Multiplier Effect

Greek Teacher Professional Development Project. Fulbright Greece, Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs, U. S. Department of State and George Mason University (2010-2012)

The image is a screenshot of a Microsoft PowerPoint presentation. The title bar at the top reads "MAP FINAL SELECTION GREEK.ppt [Compatibility Mode] - Microsoft PowerPoint". The slide content features a map of Greece with various regions and islands labeled. Numerous small portrait photos of individuals are placed around the map, with lines connecting them to text boxes containing their names and titles. The names are in Greek, and some include titles like "ΘΕΟΛΟΓΟΥ ΘΕΣ/ΝΙΚΗ" (Theologian of Thessalonica) or "ΜΟΥΣΙΔΗΣ ΧΑΛΚΙΔΙΚΗ" (Musidis Chalkidiki). The text boxes are pink and white. At the bottom of the slide, the text "FULBRIGHT SECONDARY EDUCATORS PROGRAM 2010" is written in green. The PowerPoint interface includes a menu bar (File, Home, Insert, Design, Transitions, Animations, Slide Show, Review, View, Add-Ins, PDF), a slide navigation pane on the left, and a status bar at the bottom showing "Slide 1 of 2", "Default Design", "Greek", and "103%".

Participants listed on the map:

- ΘΕΟΛΟΓΟΥ ΘΕΣ/ΝΙΚΗ
- ΜΟΥΣΙΔΗΣ ΧΑΛΚΙΔΙΚΗ

AUTHOR YOUR RESEARCH QUESTION

I want to help my students synthesize and make connections and applications of what they are learning in my classroom to the real world.

How to begin your self-study?

- Begin with your question.
- What do you most urgently want to improve/understand in your practice?
- I am curious to ...

Set a deadline and goal:

- teaching new course
- a conference presentation
- a publication

Locating your research topic using innovative strategies

Imagine an artifact or object which might represent your topic.

*What do you bring to this inquiry?

*What is the boundary of this inquiry?

*Who benefits from exploring this inquiry besides you?

ENACTING A SELF-STUDY OF TEACHING

5 Foci

Self-Study Methodology

1. Personal Situated Inquiry
2. Critical Collaborative Inquiry
3. Improved Learning
4. Transparent and Systematic Research Process
5. Knowledge Generation and Presentation

(Samaras, 2011)

7 Key Design Components

(Samaras, 2011, p. 114)

1. Author your research question.
2. Establish your critical friend team.
3. Observe your context/environment.
4. Articulate rationale and proposal.
5. Frame your question within literature.
6. Align your question with self-study method.
7. Plan purposeful inquiry/pedagogies.

What's a self-study look like?

Margret A. Hjalmarson, Professor of Mathematics Specialists Leadership

I conducted a self-study about my decision-making and role as an instructor for an online, synchronous course for mathematics specialists

Data:

- Journal reflections throughout the semester for each class session
- Anonymous surveys (mid-semester and end-of-semester)
- Researcher Memos

Results:

student autonomy and engagement

authenticity and practicality

fostering community

Pedagogical Inquiry

I was both exploring new ways to design the course and also adapting pedagogy from my previous teaching experiences in face-to-face courses.

Questioning Assumptions of Practice

I needed to examine beliefs and assumptions about my teaching as a mathematics educator and how they would be manifested in the online teaching environment.

DATA
RESULTS

Self-study can be methodologically innovative in the data used to elicit and generate data for analysis

- mood boards, found poetry, and letter-writing (Pithouse-Morgan & Samaras, 2014);
- found poetry and interpretive poetry (Samaras et al., 2015);
- rich pictures, found poetry, rhythmic poetry, and improvisational dance (Pithouse-Morgan et al., 2016);
- word clouds, lantern poetry, and Tanka poetry (Pithouse-Morgan & Samaras, 2019);
- memory pieces, double voice poetry, Tanka poetry, and dialogue (Pithouse-Morgan & Samaras, 2020a);
- dialogue, mnemonics, and metaphor (Samaras & Pithouse-Morgan, 2020);
- mnemonics, metaphor, rich pictures, word clouds, keyword poetry, and dialogue (Samaras & Pithouse-Morgan, 2021)
- tapestry poetry and dialogue (Pithouse-Morgan & Samaras, 2022b).

Modern Languages

How does my perception of the effectiveness of instructional technologies influence my students' engagement with technology?

I learned about

- my students' perceptions about as my role in modeling an effective use of instructional technologies.
- the importance of giving students more guidance if they are to be asked to reflect on their own learning process.
- my lesson plans and what actually happens in the classroom are not always the same.

Theory of Change

IF

STEM faculty are supported in designing small changes in their teaching to engage students

AND

STEM faculty participate in a supportive community with critical friends

THEN Over time, faculty will

1. continue to make incremental and ongoing changes
2. engage in scholarly self-study of their teaching.
